The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE-NAMED ASSOCIATION are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery streets lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone s throw of

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade. It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association, Lester L. Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas B Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary.

Four lots, 25x120 feet each constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J L PARRISH & CO.

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

Nichol s Lone an Italian fisherman, yesterday found a boat floating near the Farallone Islands filled with water, and in it the dead body of a man Appearances indicate that the boat had swamped and the man drowned only a short time before The boat was towed to the city and the body taken to the dead house, where it yet remains

STOCKTON June 8 —At the Union County Convention to-day the following resolutions were passed unanimously

Resolved, That the Hon John Conness and the Hon Wm Higby have during their Congressional term, exhibited in a high degree the qualities of patriots and statesmen that they have never faltered in the discharge of their duty to their constituents and their country and that the State would be well conserved by their re-election to the positions they have so creditably filled. Hon W E Greene was nominated on the first ballot for County Judge

PLACERVILLE June 8 —The Union County Committee and met here on Thursday The feature of the first day was a bold and effective speech of Mr McCallum He said he had made no conditions; that he wanted the delegates to the State Convention and the Legislative nominees to be unpledged and he hoped that the men who had entered into bargains and made pledges would be repudiated His speech produced a profound sensation Resolutions were passed in favor of Congress and its reconstruction policy, of the registry and primary election laws, of retrenchment, economy and a reduction of taxes; of re-districting the county into three assessing and collecting districts and deprecating public aid to private enterprises.

The following delegates to the State Convention were elected, (they are in favor of McCallum for Congress,) F. M Taft, A. J Enminger, H F Page, T Frazer, R Bell, E H Smith, R F Taylor, E H Morey, A L Frost, E Powell, A J Hart C H Jones, J S. Miller, W Bartram and C Allen The Convention has since been occupied in making nominations They are as follows For Senator, O H Burnham, for Assemblymen Calvin Edgerton, R F Taylor, Alfred James and A. SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—What is claimed as an adjourned meeting of the Union County Convention was held last night The report of the Committee on Credentials was gone through, and a full delegation to the State Congressional Convention was chosen. A new County Committee was also chosen The Convention before adjourning urged upon the delegates the necessity of being in attendance at both Conventions

A lively time is anticipated at San Jose to-morrow, at which place the Southern Congressional Convention is to be held All parties concede that Wilcox has the inside track and that nothing can prevent his nomination for Congressman of the Southern District

It may be necessary here to state that this Convention was composed of eighteen delegates elected at the recent primary by the Peoples' Party, although they are in the minority and bolted from the regular Convention of last Saturday evening They claim to be the regular Convention The Bulletin having been fairly outwitted in its manœuvering of the primaries, now calls loudly upon the interior delegations to come to the rescue and defeat the nomination of Gorham In the event of a defeat in the State Convention, it is understood that it will fly the track and throw its influence for the Democratic candidate

About 11 o'clock last night, a general row occurred in a Mexican fonda on Broadway, near Kearney street. Two of the parties, supposed to be named Paul Fieldaro, a Chilean and Lewis, a Mexican, went out on the sidewalk and thence to Jackson street, near Dupont, when an altercation ensued, which resulted in Fieldaro drawing a knife and cutting the Mexican making a terrible gash in the neck The wounded man was at once conveyed to the City Hospital by officer McWilliams It is thought that the wound, although serious, is not necessarily fatal

Indian Troubles—Telegraph Operator Killed.

SALT LAKE June 6.—The following dispatch has been handed in to day to be immediately sent to the Assistant Postmaster General at Washington by Quincy A Brooks Special Agent of the Post Office Department The Overland route is seriously obstructed by Indians from the Western terminus of the Union Pacific Railroad to Green river The route is perilous and the danger continually increasing The contractors are doing all in their power to push the mail through All their stations are being burned, their animals driven off, and their employes killed I earnestly recommend that the War Department be urged to order an adequate force to protect the line, especially west of Denver If the depredations continue to increase, the mail service must be abandoned

SALT LAKE June 8 —Ben Holladay and J J Tracy, Superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co, left by coach for the East this morning taking a strong force of picked men from the employes as an escort

SALT LAKE June 9 —John Sharp s train of about 30 wagons was attacked by Indians last night at Washakie 300 miles east of here One man was killed and several head of stock run off They also run off four head of stage stock from Washakie station Ben Holladay and party proceeded east from Weber this morning.

SALT LAKE June 9—3 P M —On Thursday, June 6th Plum Creek station, 160 miles east of Julesburg, was attacked by 300 Indians The operator fought them three hours when the Indians were driven off They returned on Friday morning and it is reported that the operator and another man were killed and scalped The Indians drove off a lot of stock at that point Three companies of volunteers will probably leave Denver to morrow for the head of Republican river on an Indian hunt Central City has raised $5 000 to be paid for Indian scalps, at the rate of $20 a scalp with ears attached Several other companies are organizing in Colorado to go for Indians

SALT LAKE June 9 —The lines are working as far as Julesburg Both have been down for five days one hundred miles east of that place from Indians, storms, &c Indian troubles are thickening between here and Denver Ben Holladay returned here to day to go via San Francisco

We have received the following from Julesburg Gen Sherman recommends that the wires be moved to the north side of the Platte on the railroad that the stage line transfer their passengers at Julesburg, or at the end of the track, as it will save him from guarding both sides of the Platte river, when one is sufficient for all The stage company have commenced by bringing their boats and stock up to the end of the track about thirty miles from here where they commence transferring to-day or to morrow Gen Stevens and Gen Gibbons are moving with a force up Pole Creek and Gen Augur, with another force is moving to the South Fork. There are a great number of small bands of Indians stealing horses and scalping all through the country, but no large villages or bands that the troops can strike Gen Custer is moving north and driving them from the vicinity of the Republican It is expected that the Indians will divide and pass around his flanks to the rear and strike the Smoky Hill route

One telegraph operator has been killed east of Julesburg and others driven back

The only meat to be had for a reasonable price is venison, the high water having driven the deer out of the swamp to the knolls, where they are slaughtered by scores Other articles of consumption are very scarce and prices fabulous The cows can't be milked, and the hens have no dry places to make a nest consequently butter and eggs are out of the question

Of indigenous vegetables there are none Corn sells for $1 50 a bushel, whisky of the most abominable description is retailed at 25 cents per glass Even greenbacks are scarce, and there is not a piece of gold or silver—not even a nickel—in the town, to toss up withal for the drinks Hoop skirts are at a discount since locomotion has necessarily been dispensed with, and they are not at all becoming in a skiff or pirogue such being the only vehicles used for the purposes of visiting and making business calls The negroes are all washed out of house and home, and are preparing to emigrate There is not dry land enough in the vicinity to bury the dead, and those who had long since retired to what is generally considered the last resting place after life's fitful fever are roused from their abode

A coffin on the river levee opposite Judge Farrar's house, became dislodged by the restless surges, and floated down the stream to find some other burial spot

The Gazette adds The levees are all down A storm which visited the scene of waste and desolation wrecked several boats and blew down a few chimneys, but there was hardly anything left on the plantations to be further damaged or destroyed

A STATE PRISON SCENE —On Fast Day the Governor of New Hampshire visited the State Prison at Concord, and after viewing the building he requested the warden to bring a certain prisoner into the room. In a short time Mayo and the man entered and took their position in the middle of the company The Governor rose, took the man by the hand, and spoke substantially as follows

"My friend, about twelve months ago you were committed to this prison for five years for the alleged crime of passing counterfeit money Soon after your incarceration circumstances came to light tending to prove that, although a counterfeit bill passed through your hands, it was used by you in an entirely innocent manner, and that you were unwittingly the dupe of a scoundrel who fled the State and has never been arrested I immediately ordered a full investigation of your case, and am thoroughly convinced that you are an innocent man, and serving out an unjust sentence. The Constitution of the State gives me power to open the doors of this prison, and in the lawful exercise of that power I now grant you a full and free pardon This very hour the warden will relieve you of a convict's uniform and give you a citizen's dress You have been a good man within these walls, and while I and my friends here live we will everywhere bear testimony that your imprisonment leaves no stain on your character A dear wife and loving sister have prayed for your release, and now I restore you to their hands, to be once more their comfort and support."

As the Governor closed his remarks, the poor man, overjoyed with happiness, trembled in every limb, and his face was wet with tears Not a person in the audience looked unmoved upon the scene All present congratulated the prisoner upon his just release, and wished him a happy and prosperous future

THE BALLOT —It is truly surprising what a great change a small scrap of paper, called a ballot can work Little more than half a century ago, one vote cast in the State of Rhode Island decided to all appearances, the question of declaring war with England That one ballot determined the election of the Congressman who came to hold the balance of power Had an anti war man been elected in his place, the war would have been indefinitely postponed and perhaps have been entirely prevented Great as was this value of a ballot, it would seem that it has still more wonderful power The mere fact of being able to vote is sure to change the complexion of either the negro or the Democracy The latter has always boasted that it was the white man's party. Yet no sooner has the ballot been given to the blacks of the District of Columbia, than the Democratic papers of the District begin to bid for their support, entirely ignoring and stultifying their past record Has the Ethiopian changed his skin, or the Democracy its prejudice? It is certain in either case, that a ballot possesses most remarkable bleaching properties

A YOUNG COPPERHEAD — —On respectable authority, says the Hopkinsville, Ky , Constitution, we state that a lady residing at Fairview, in this county, gave birth some six weeks ago, to a child that was a most singular compound of man and reptile The lower portions of the child are natural in its formation, and partake of the characteristics of the genus homo, but the body and the head are similar to the body and the head of the rattlesnake The mother, every time she is compelled to give nourishment to the child, is thrown into convulsions The singular formation of this creature is thus accounted for Some time during pregnancy a rattlesnake attacked and greatly frightened the mother of this creature, but fortunately however did not injure her At the date of writing, the child is still alive Its parents are among the most respectable people of Christian county

A VEGETABLE CURIOSITY —The following is clipped from the San Francisco Bulletin

A natural wonder, in the shape of a vegetable porcupine, is now on exhibition in the library room of the Mechanics Institute on Post street It was brought from the Owens river country by W G Roberts of this city, who presented it to the Association as a species of vegetation not found elsewhere in California The plant resembles a clump of coarse grass roots, with short pointed, bristling straws A closer inspection shows those straws to be sharp and hard like thorns resembling in shape and size the orange wood tooth-picks so much in use The plant is said to be found in the sandy deserts or wastes of Owens valley, where no other species of vegetation will grow

The Supreme Court not a Political Power

The Memphis Bulletin, edited by Raphael Semmes, has a long editorial in its issue of the 17th ult , against the attempt of Governor Sharkey and others to force upon the Supreme Court the decision of a political question The following is the concluding portion

What was the condition of things when Judge Sharkey filed his petition for an injunction? What were the facts of the case, aside from the political processes by which those facts were brought about? The facts were and are, that the ten Southern States in whose behalf the petition was filed are no longer States They are provinces, or military satrapies, actually under the government of commanding generals, provided for by Congress and appointed by the President—the generals being, in other words, new governors, appointed by the political power of the States. The ex States do not even exist as separate provinces, with separate governors—there being ten provinces, and but five military governors The changed condition of these States is clearly political. Has the Supreme Court any more power to look into the processes by which the change was accomplished than it had to inquire by what process West Virginia became a State, or whether the late war had been declared by Congress in conformity with the Constitution? Must it not accept the fact as it finds it as a fact, and a fact only? The change in the condition of these facts is the result of a revolution, and courts always take recognizance of the facts that are accomplished by revolutions They rightly look to the de facto condition of things, rather than to the de jure condition of them. The venerable Chief Justice Hale, of England, continued to sit upon the bench and administer justice under Cromwell, as he had done under Charles the First, though he was a royalist He simply looked at the fact that the government had been changed without troubling himself as to the political processes by which the fact had been accomplished. In course of time the "Commonwealth" disappeared, and Charles the Second was restored, but still Hale kept his seat. He was a judge—the follower of revolutions and not the maker of them. The truth is that nine tenths of our Southern people have gone astray on all these questions, and their error lies in their overlooking one fundamental principle They forget that they seceded from the United States, and waged a foreign war against their enemy If they would bear these facts in mind they could solve all their difficulties With these premises they could draw logical conclusions, instead of stultifying themselves at every step We cannot talk about our rights under the Constitution without condemning ourselves out of our own mouths To do so we must unsay all we have said, undo all we have done We must throw our honor to the dogs, and consent to let the enemy brand us as rebels and traitors Why can we not be men, and stand up to what we have done, instead of whining like whipped spaniels, and claiming to re-enter the kennel whence we so recently spurned? We feel mortified and humbled at the position in which Judge Sharkey has placed Mississippi He has humbled her in the dust, by making her eat her own words and undo all her glorious deeds of the war. In our judgment we had the right to secede, we did secede, we have been conquered in the war, and the result is that we are foreign territory Instead of our honor requiring us to deny all these things it consists in our affirming them, and we should get back into the Union as soon as possible under the terms the conqueror has proposed Once in the Union we shall be in a condition to take advantage of any political changes that may enable us to regain the liberty we have lost.

THE GREAT MUSEUMS OF THE WORLD.—Prof. Agassiz, in a letter to the Boston Transcript, replying to some criticisms made by a correspondent of that paper, says

In the second place, I am called to account for having stated that the Jardin des Plantes and the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Cambridge are the only institutions in the world where instruction is given in connection with the collections I think no one of my hearers could have failed to understand that I was speaking not of institutions of learning generally, but of great museums Of course I am aware that there are many universities, colleges, and even high schools, where lectures are given in connection with collections, this is indeed rather the rule than the exception, in all European schools But special collections, intended for instruction, and limited to what is needed for general study, ought not be confounded with museums organized with a view to the advancement of science, and destined to educate scientific men We have such an elementary collection for the use of general students within the Museum itself Such collection ought to be put up in all normal and high schools

But the great museums of the world, devoted exclusively to the advancement of science, such as the Jardin des Plantes, the British Museum, the Museum in Leyden, the Frankfort Museum and those of Vienna and Petersburg are not educational institutions On the other hand the great universities, such as Oxford and Cambridge in England Paris, Montpelier Strasburg, etc , in France, Gottengen, Heidelberg, Viena, etc., in Germany are not connected with great museums The museum at Berlin and Munich existed there before the foundation of the Universities of those cities. The same is true of this country Neither the Smithsonian Institution, nor the Academy of Natural Science in Philadelphia, nor the Boston Natural History Society have any provision for public instruction, and I am not aware that any of our colleges has a first class museum connected with it Mr Peabody's liberal donations are no doubt at this moment leading to the erection of several, and I trust this discussion will suggest the importance of making our scientific collections more generally useful for study

But at present this is not the case The Smithsonian Institution in Washington and the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Cambridge are the only ones open daily to the public with the sole reservation of the time necessary for the maintenance of order and neatness

To the great museums enumerated above I hope the Cambridge Museum will be added as soon as its treasures can be opened to the public Meanwhile I repeat the statements made considerate in the first instance, that of these first class m ums the Jardin des Plantes and the Muse Cambridge are the only ones which are or zed as educational establishments and whose instruction, free of charge, are open to course of the public

ROMANCE OF A BED QUILT —The Rockport (Conn) Journal of a late date relates this

Recently we published the marriage in town of Captain Robert F Fiske, editor of the Helena (Montana) Herald, to a Miss Lizzie Chester Since that time we have learned that there is a bit of romance connected with this affair which is really worth telling When the war of the rebellion broke out, Fiske was a resident of the State of New York, from which State he enlisted in the Union army and attained the rank of Captain In some of the engagements he was wounded and taken to an army hospital While he was thus confined, it appears that the ladies of our town of Vernon were at work for the soldiers, and among other things they provided and sent as hospital stores was an "album bedquilt," which contained the names of several ladies who assisted in its construction As luck would have it, this bed quilt chanced to find its way to the hospital, and to the very bed upon which the wounded Captain lay, and for amusement he copied the names, sending a letter or his photograph, or both to the address of every lady One of these letters was received by a little girl, who, as she could not write herself, procured the services of Miss Chester to reply We need not particularize further but it was simply through the agency of the album bed quilt that Captain Fiske first heard of Miss Chester, and now after the lapse of two years, that acquaintance has culminated in marriage, and the gallant officer has taken his fair lady to his home in the West

Nice Conservators of Public Morals

If, in this age, there were none whose chief employment it is to mourn over the decay of public virtue and to prophesy the speedy ruin of their country as the result of the corruption and degeneracy of the times, the period in which we live would be very different from any other since the world's history began to be written. The laxity of public morals is an endless theme for declamation. It is the final resource of the defeated and disappointed, who have not fortitude or philosophy enough to enable them to bear calmly their own defeats and the triumphs of their opponents. Because their views cannot prevail, because their measures are rejected, the country is coming to ruin. It indicates a fearful state of public morals when the principles they advocate are repudiated by the people, and when opposite counsels prevail. We have men now among us who despair of the Republic, and who engage in lofty and severe declamation against the public immorality which, as they tell us, is driving the country to sure and speedy destruction. This dreadful corruption is charged entirely to the "dominant party," and the sum of it is that that party refuses to be governed by the counsels of the Democracy. Democratic teachings are rejected, and inevitable ruin impends.

This species of prophecy is rather an old story, and this sort of prophets have in all times been quite numerous. Every age has had its writers who have bewailed its degeneracy and declared in the most solemn manner that the world was in a state of retrogression; that the people were becoming fearfully corrupt, that vice was steadily gaining the ascendency over virtue, and that things generally were desperately out of joint. These jeremiads have always ended in the most gloomy and terrible predictions for the future. Yet in spite of all these direful vaticinations the world has got on somehow, civilization has made some progress, religion has steadily advanced, the rights of men have gained a wider recognition, people are becoming wiser and better, and the evil day which the self-appointed prophets have so often foretold has, as yet, been averted. Therefore we think it would be as well for these unhappy people to quiet their apprehensions. Judging from the past, they may safely rest in the assurance that there is yet some hope for the future of the human race.

Those among us who predict that like dreadful things will happen in our own country as the consequence of the decay of public virtue, should endeavor to obtain like consolation. It would be wholesome if they would reflect a little to see if the public morals are in quite so bad a way as they suppose. "The corruption of the dominant party" is the hobby that distresses them. Virtuous individuals, who are members of that party which, a little more than six years ago, was driven ignominously from power because of its corruption! Yet when their party was committing those acts for which it was so signally rebuked by the people, they saw no wrong in it. While corruption was prevailing in every department, under the last Democratic Administration, to such an extent as was never known before or since, these censors of public morals had not a word to utter against it. Their tongues and pens were alike silent. But now every orator and writer among them assumes to be another Cato. Their special theme is the degeneracy of the times, the laxity of public morals and the corrupt practices of their political opponents. But it is needful to remind these individuals that their own conduct of a few years since is still remembered. They were driven out of power for their corruption, and that they have not been and cannot be reinstated is proof enough that the "dominant party," though undoubtedly not free from faults, is nevertheless infinitely purer than the party which is trying to cover up its past infamous record by assuming virtues which, as it has convincingly shown, it does not possess.

The editor of the Albany Democrat is in a terrible state of excitement and indignation. He has been bitten with the "rage canine" of "negro equality," and devotes an entire column of his paper to the wildest of ravings on this topic. The occasion is this. The Salem Sabbath Schools recently went to Albany to meet the Sabbath Schools of the latter place for a pic-nic. In one of the Salem Schools there is a class of colored children. These children accompanied the other classes to Albany, and actually went with the rest to the Court House where the exercises were held! This was more than the refined sensibilities of the editor of the Democrat could endure, and the result is a protest against the proceeding, occupying an entire column, and couched in the vilest language an impure imagination could invent. Like a great booby, the first thing he thinks of is to call names. And as might be expected, he is very choice in his expressions. He calls the colored children "big, fat, buck darkies," "delectable niggers," "big greasy, buck niggers," "big, strapping lazy buck whelps," etc, etc,—evidently too much excited to remember that he was talking of Sunday School children and not of grown men. The colored children are not accused of any ill behavior; their offence is that they are "niggers." Yet the editor says that this class of persons "have immortal souls, and we believe an effort should be made to save them." Indeed! And suppose their souls are saved, and that the soul of the editor of the Democrat (granting that he has one) is saved also;—will he be too fastidious to meet these colored children in his Father's mansions? Will he insist that they shall take a place below him in the Kingdom? If the editor of the Democrat will read his New Testament he will find several passages that will fit his case exactly. He has evidently never learned the lesson about who shall be least and who greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.—A telegram from Olympia states that reliable information received from Pacific county indicates that Flanders' majority in that county is over one hundred. The official count in Walla Walla gives Clark one hundred and thirty-six majority. Flanders is now one hundred and forty-eight ahead, with only Stevens and Wahkiakum counties to hear from, which are as likely to increase as to diminish his vote. Hence there is scarcely a doubt of his election.

On election day at Walla Walla a man known as "Billy Bowers" or "Soap Creek Billy" stabbed a farmer of Walla Walla valley named William Simpson, inflicting a dangerous wound. The affray grew out of a quarrel about the election. Bowers is well known throughout the upper country as a bully. He formerly lived in Benton county in this State. Simpson is said to be an inoffensive man.

STATE ITEMS

The Fourth of July will be celebrated at Albany.

The Fourth of July will be celebrated in Coos county. Hon Binger Hermann will deliver the oration. People in Curry and the adjoining counties are invited to attend.

On last Saturday, says the Albany Democrat, while two of our citizens, of French extraction, named John Fourule and Isaiah Mercier, were returning from Corvallis the horse attached to the buggy became frightened and unmanageable, ran away, upset the vehicle, and threw the men violently out, knocking them both dead as mackerels for a time. In falling from the buggy Monsieur Fourule fell with his face upon the sharp point of a stick about an inch in diameter which ran into the lower part of his cheek passing up and protruded from the flesh just in front of the temple. He was also otherwise bruised and battered up and for a time his life was despaired of, but we now learn that hopes are entertained of his recovery. M. Mercier fared better as it was only the violence of his collision with "Mother Earth" that deprived him of the use of his respiratory organs for a short time.

IT CLINCHES THE ARGUMENT.—Nothing more completely proves the defeat and downfall of the machinations of the Copperheads, and nothing more fully establishes the irreversibility of these magical changes than the following frank confession of the New York World. These useful words prove that although the World is a reckless and unscrupulous assailant, it has not lost the natural desire of dying with decency.

This brings us to our second question, that the franchise now conferred on the negro can never be revoked. The desirability of revoking them is not the question which we discuss, but the possibility. If our Government were so constituted that revolutions in public opinion could immediately take effect in reversing past legislation, the question might be different. But the six years tenure of the United States Senators is an impassable barrier to the sudden repeal of the new law. With every Northern State at present in possession of the Republicans, some time is required for changing the political character of the State Legislatures, which elect the Senators. Until this is accomplished, the Senate will remain, as now, overwhelmingly Republican. But when the Senatorial changes begin, they can proceed but slowly, owing to the long terms of the Senators. There is, therefore, no possibility of a repeal of the reconstruction act until it has accomplished all the mischief of which it is capable. Agitation for its repeal would be political folly, because the Southern States cannot and will not, stand unrecognized and unrepresented until a repeal could be effected.

Nothing is more certain than that the Southern States will be reconstructed on the basis of that act, and the negroes, once admitted to the suffrage, can never afterwards be excluded, inasmuch as their own votes would have to be counted on the question of exclusion. Neither the Democratic party, nor any other party of practical men in their senses, will go into the next Presidential election with the repeal of the reconstruction act as their leading issue. But if the next Presidential election does not turn up that issue, it is certain that no subsequent one can. We may accordingly regard the negro question as settled.

There being, then, nothing further to agitate for in behalf of the negro, and no prospect of any agitation to deprive him of what he has gained, our national politics can no longer revolve around him as their center; which ought to be considered as a happy riddance, if we could but lay out of view the enormous and appalling cost at which it has been purchased.

RAPHAEL'S PORTRAIT.—There is no name more thoroughly despised than that of the "Admiral" of the Alabama, Raphael Semmes. He was the Captain Kidd of the Confederacy, preying upon our commerce "as he sailed, as he sailed." Although he was a corsair without any of the bluff bravery which made the vikings of Norseland famous, he had some little appreciation of the people against whom he was directing his piratical expedition. The following, which recently appeared in the editorial columns of his paper, the Memphis Bulletin, is, as far as it goes, a good pen picture:

When we were afloat in the Alabama, if we were in doubt as to the nationality of any ship we were pursuing, we had only to take a look at her, at whatever distance she might be, through our telescope, to determine at once whether she was a Yankee or not. If she excelled the ships of all other nations in the symmetry of her hull, the length, the grace, and the taper of her spars; if her canvas was whiter, her sails larger, more beautifully set and "sheeted home," and hoisted in a more seamanlike manner, if, in short, like a beautiful woman, she ravished the beholder as well by the swelling and graceful outlines of her figure as by the witchery of her drapery, we were always sure she was Yankee. What is it that the Yankee cannot do? And, whether he can do it or not, what is it that he will not attempt? He has recently invaded the Holy Land, intent upon uprooting the Turk and getting possession of the Holy sepulchre. The Sultan had better look out for himself. If he permits the cockatrice's eggs to hatch he is gone.

PLACER DIGGINGS IN UTAH.—The Salt Lake Vedette, of the 18th of May, has a mining notice as follows:

We were shown yesterday the results of about fifteen pans washing from placer diggings in Bingham canon. An old California miner, who has just returned, informs us that in all the dry gulches and hillsides may be seen glowing evidences of the existence of gold, which will yield from the color to thirty cents per pan, as he expresses it, and he gave his opinion that if the water is turned in from the creek there will be found good $10 diggings. This gold is from a spot higher up than where the first prospectors discovered diggings.

Gen. Wager Swayne and Hon. C S G. Doster wrote letters expressive of strong sympathy for the objects of the recent Republican meeting in Dallas County, Ala. The latter said: "We must build up a strong Republican Party in the South. In the success of the party lies the hope of the nation; its domination alone can guarantee equal and impartial justice to all men. With proper management Alabama will be assured to the Republican ticket for President in 1868."

Gov. Wells of Louisiana, has appointed a colored man Inspector of Hay at New Orleans.

AGAIN OUR SABBATH DAY IS PASSED and the business week has commenced. No one dares to disbelieve that that Barman Bros. have the largest stock of custom-made clothing in the city of Portland, or that they sell at the very lowest cash prices, on the corner of Front and Morrison streets, formerly City of Paris Store. Branch store at Salem.

The National Grand Lodge of Good Templars has been in session at Detroit. A resolution was adopted recommending the formation of county leagues, pledged to vote for none but temperance men and all persons in the county of Multnomah and in the State of Oregon to buy their Clothing, Dry Goods and everything in that line, at KOHN & FISHEL'S, No. 91 Front street, who have the best stock in the city of Portland, and sell it at most extreme low prices.

PERFECTLY SATISFIED.—Every one that visits BUCHTEL'S PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, comes away perfectly satisfied with their bargains. The highest style of the art is reached in the beautiful Sun Pearls and Photographs.

Information Wanted.

IN THE LATTER PART OF OCTOBER, 1866, I LEFT some Household Furniture, including Cook Stove, with J. H. Fesster, at Wasouda, to be forwarded to the O S N Co's warehouse, Portland, for shipment to Vancouver. The goods were hauled to this city by J A Gilmore, who (as the clerk of the O S N Co refused to receive them because it was not the proper place of deposit for freight to Vancouver) left them with his brother-in-law, since which time I have lost trace of them. If the brother in law of Mr Gilmore (whose name I do not know,) or any other person can give any information of said furniture he will greatly oblige by leaving word at the Oregonian Office.

RUNAWAYS AND SMASH-UPS.—Several runaways and [illegible] occurred yesterday afternoon on the Macadamized road. One of Talmadge's teams, driven at the time of the accident, by Mrs. Parker, ran away with a carriage in which were five or six persons. Mrs. Parker was [illegible]ably hurt, and others of the party sustained injuries but not of a serious character. The carriage was much broken and one of the horses received injuries. One of the party [illegible] the runaway: "The horses were trotting down hill, kept trotting faster and faster till pretty soon they began to run and when they commenced to run, they run, and pretty soon that was all I knew about it!" As Messrs. Stevens and M[illegible] were driving home at a pretty stiff trot, [illegible] that any team was near them, Mr. Stevens, who [illegible], turned from the centre track into the right hand one. Just as he did so, another team driven by Mr. [illegible], came up at a rapid pace and attempted to pass Mr. Stevens on the right. The work was too quick for either driver and the wheels of the carriages collided, [illegible] one wheel of Anderson's carriage and upsetting it. The latter was thrown upon his head and almost stunned. His team broke loose from the buggy as it turned over, and ran a short distance when both horses were thrown into the ditch by the road side, and were not extricated without considerable effort. Anderson's party in which there were ladies and another gentleman, were thrown out, Mr. Anderson himself was seriously injured and one of the ladies was badly cut and bruised. When the collision occurred, Mr. Stevens had his team well in hand, but Mr. [illegible] the team driven by Mr. Anderson was running and, perhaps, not under control. One of the horses, belonging to Mr. Cook, was badly injured. One of the [illegible] had every spoke drawn out of the hub, so great was the force of the collision. The extent of the damage to persons or property could not be ascertained last evening, as several of the persons had not [illegible], and the wrecks of carriages were strung along the road. To wind up the disasters of the day, a buggy driven by a Miss L. R. Becker was run into by another driven by a fast female, on Front street and one of the [illegible]. Beyond some fractures of one [illegible] several bruises, the total damage by this collision did not foot up heavily.

[illegible]—Denville Brown had an examination [illegible] day, before Recorder Hoffman, ex-officio justice of the peace, on the general charge of counterfeiting the coin of the United States. The evidence adduced which bore most directly upon the charge was that of the police officers who arrested him and searched the premises. They found several unfinished coins in Brown's [illegible], in his sleeping room and a room adjoining, they found [illegible] of the spurious metal and evident signs of [illegible] and moulding processes; just out of the [illegible] of the room where the coining is supposed to have taken place, was found an iron ladle in the gutter [illegible] and covered with a piece of board; one of the [illegible] which seemed to be part of a brittania [illegible] in the drawer of a small table in his sleeping room [illegible] contained a genuine ten cent piece, [illegible] like gold; in a book in his sleeping room, [illegible] recipe for galvanizing both silver and gold; [illegible] moulds which are made of plaster of Paris, [illegible] in the vault of a privy adjoining his [illegible] the principal facts developed, but there [illegible] other and corroborative evidence, indicating [illegible] the principal operator. Upon the conclusion [illegible], the Recorder held Brown to answer [illegible] the Circuit Court, fixing bail at $3,000. He, of course [illegible] the necessary surety and is confined in jail. [illegible] Morse, who was arrested on Thursday on [illegible] of passing counterfeit money, has been discharged, it being the intention of the prosecution to avail [illegible] her testimony. How much or what knowledge [illegible] the counterfeiting we can only infer. Doe [illegible] implicated, is still in jail and will have an [illegible] this morning.

[illegible] CITY ITEMS.—Several farmers in this vicinity [illegible] haying. The grass is splendid.....On [illegible] last this region was visited by a thunder [illegible] accompanied by a terrible hail storm, such as is [illegible] in Oregon. No harm has resulted, but [illegible] and all nature is [illegible] more blooming than [illegible] storm. [illegible] Mr. H. Meyer of Mayer's Market in [illegible] exposed for sale on Monday last, two of the [illegible] we have ever seen. The aggregate weight [illegible] was over eighty [illegible]. They were large [illegible] enough to [illegible]. At the meeting [illegible] Council on Monday evening last, $5,000 [illegible] voted for the purpose of improving the roads [illegible] on the bluff. [illegible] On Wednesday last one of [illegible] the paper mill named [illegible], had his hand [illegible]. He was taken to Dr. Barclay's office, [illegible] necessary to amputate the forefinger, [illegible] he injured. [illegible] At a regular meeting of [illegible] Club, held on the evening of June [illegible] elected Captain of the first nine, and [illegible] of the second nine. Members of [illegible] Pope, Ed. J. Zigler, P. T. [illegible], J. P. Bridges, W. C. Salmon, [illegible] Geo. A. Sheppard, and W. C. Johnson. [illegible] for field exercise were changed so as [illegible] Thursdays and Saturdays of each [illegible] challenge from the Pioneer Club of Portland, [illegible] match game at that city on Monday the 17th, [illegible] received by the Secretary.

[illegible] CENTRE OF GRAVITY.—A chap who was a little more than "half seas over," was descanting yesterday [illegible] of the livery stables of this city upon the [illegible] to ride a horse. Mounting one that stood [illegible] illustrated the way in which a man should ride, [illegible] took to show how a woman should sit on [illegible] both legs on one side, he assured his [illegible] it was just as easy to sit right and firmly, [illegible] and insecurely. Just at this moment [illegible] evidently intending to give the rider an opportunity [illegible] the right method of sitting securely, [illegible] to one side, when the rider came down [illegible] vault and struck as squarely upon the [illegible] that his body and feet described a perpendicular [illegible] the space of about a quarter of a minute. [illegible] spectators thought for a moment [illegible] found his exact centre of gravity and would [illegible] forever. It is needless to say that the [illegible] as did the ride.

[illegible] DAY.—Yesterday was observed by the Israelites as a festival day, one of the principal days of the [illegible] originally called the "feast of weeks," [illegible] the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passover [illegible] day is observed as a day of public [illegible] in commemoration of the revelation [illegible] Mount Sinai. The day is also observed [illegible] Churches, to commemorate the descent of [illegible] upon the apostles, ten days after Christ's [illegible]. In the early ages of Christianity, it was a favorite [illegible] for administering the rite of baptism and from [illegible] robes worn by the candidates, it came finally [illegible] Whitsunday. The day was celebrated in the [illegible] of this city by appropriate services conducted [illegible] and the usual rites of confirmation [illegible] in the Catholic, Episcopal and other [illegible].

[illegible] COURT.—The following proceedings were had in [illegible] County Court on Saturday, the 8th [illegible]. In the matter of the petition for the [illegible] of the [illegible] road in East Portland, Mr. D. Gillham, John [illegible] and Samuel Nelson were appointed viewers, to [illegible] on the 18th inst. [illegible] of the guardianship of Jemima Watson, [illegible] Watson, guardian. Petition to sell [illegible] of the south end, of the west one-half of lot, [illegible] block fifty-one, in the city of Portland, filed, [illegible] tion of notice made. Set for hearing on [illegible] of George Q. Bottler, deceased; George Bottler, [illegible]; final account filed and set for hearing [illegible].

[illegible] FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The expedition with [illegible] the fire companies got water upon the burning [illegible] Mr. Miller's place yesterday, is another proof of [illegible] of our Fire Department. We heard it complained [illegible] in a jocular vein on one occasion not long since, [illegible] fire in Portland had no fair chance at all against [illegible], and we considered that complaint a very [illegible] compliment to the Department. We have tried [illegible] times to get to the scene of an alarm in advance of [illegible], but we never succeeded; and we have now [illegible] upon the conclusion that, to get ahead of them, [illegible] start before the fire begins.

[illegible].—The Dalles Mountaineer says: Company [illegible], under [illegible] and of Lieut. Rice, left [illegible] last Tuesday for Camp "Wright," in the [illegible] Lake country......Major Francis, Paymaster, U. S. A., arrived from Fort Colville last Wednesday, having [illegible] the troops at that post......Capt. Barry, who has [illegible] Fort Dall, and in this city, looking after deserters [illegible] last ten days, left for his post at Camp Watson on [illegible] last......Capt. Weldy, of the 23d Infantry, goes [illegible], thence south, to establish a new military post [illegible] in the vicinity of the headwaters of Malheur [illegible] creek.

[illegible].—"The great London and Paris [illegible] of scenery, and art," will be on exhibition [illegible] Hall this evening. The views which are realistic and very numerous, will be illustrated by [illegible] and descriptive lecture by Mr. Warwick [illegible] has the reputation for correct and extensive historical [illegible] and [illegible] tact as a delineator of nationalities. One of the attractions of this entertainment [illegible] distribution connected with it, [illegible] jewelry and ornamental [illegible].

[illegible].—The [illegible] were turned out [illegible] day [illegible] by an alarm which proceeded from the corner [illegible] First street. The fire was in some hay [illegible] open shed in the rear of the residence [illegible] B. Miller, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express messenger. [illegible] were on the ground, and playing [illegible] the fire [illegible] a very short time, and it was subdued [illegible]. Mr. Miller supposed [illegible] to have been set by a mere child who was playing [illegible].

[illegible].—On Saturday, Judge [illegible] while at work on his farm, a few miles from the [illegible], met with a fall by which one of his legs was injured [illegible] to require the aid of a surgeon. We [illegible] will be unable for a week to hold Court.

[illegible] COURT. [illegible] JUSTICE.—On Saturday, [illegible] spent in taking testimony in the case of A. [illegible] vs. A. Hamilton, et al—action at law to recover [illegible]. The Court adjourned till Monday, [illegible] the [illegible].

[illegible].—The steamer Senator brought [illegible] Oregon City, on Saturday, 171 sks feed, 191 [illegible] bacon, [illegible] produce, 16 boxes do, 14 cases [illegible] cases and 1 bale, mdse, 1,000 qr [illegible] eggs.

AUCTION SALE OF BOOKS.—Mr. Kilbourn, auctioneer, will commence to-night to sell books at the store of A. Roman & Co., on First street, and will continue the sale every night till the entire stock is closed out. There will be an excellent opportunity to get bargains, as the books are to be sold for whatever they will bring. The store fixtures are also for sale.

CELEBRATION.—We learn that a number of persons are stirring around, in efforts to get up a general celebration of the 4th of July. It is probable a public meeting will be soon called, in order to concentrate all efforts in one direction.

Consumption, like the Rattle Snake, always gives warning of its approach. A hacking cough, dull pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, are the indications that there is more or less irritation of the lungs. If this be neglected, and go on until pustules are formed, followed by tubercles, which sometimes eat off the blood vessels, death will be the result. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the irritated parts, allay the inflammation, removing the phlegm and matter, thus stopping the cough, and preventing fatal consumption. PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Sting of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

Precept and Practice.

AN ATHENIAN STORY.

In Athens ere the sun of fame had set,
Midst pomp and show the gazing crowds were met,
Intent forever upon something new,
The mimic wonder of the stage to view,

So where the wide extended circus spreads
In gathering ranks its sea of living heads,
Ranged in close order rising row on row,
The void arena claims the space below

The seats were filled but ere the show began
A stranger entered—'twas an aged man
Awhile he sought a place with aspect mild,
The polished young Athenians sat and smiled,
Eyed his confusion with a side long glance
But kept their seats, nor rose on his advance.

O for a burning blush of deeper hue,
To mark the shame of that self glorious crew;
How poor the produce of fair learning's tree,
That bears no fruit of sweet humility!
The growth of arts and science, how vain
In hearts that feel not for another's pain!

Not so the Spartan youth, whose simple school
Instilled the plain but salutary rule
Of kindness, and whose honest souls preferred
Truth to display—performance to a word

These Spartan youths had their appointed place,
Apart from Attica's distinguished race,
And rose with one accord intent to prove
To honored age, their duty and their love,
Nor did a Spartan youth his seat resume
Till the old man found due and fitting room.

Then came the sentence of reproof and praise,
Stamped with the sternness of the ancient days,
For, standing full amid the assembled crowd,
The venerable stranger cried aloud
"The Athenians learn their duty well, but lo!
The Spartans practice what the Athenians know."

The words were good, and in a virtuous cause,
They justly earned a nation's glad applause,
But we have surer words of precept given
In God's own book, the words that came from heaven·
"Be kind, be courteous, be all honor shown,
Seek others' welfare rather than thine own"

Washington in the Olden Time

"Kangaroo," Washington correspondent of the New Orleans Crescent, gives the following reminiscences:

One of my chums has resided in Washington City just fifty years, seen fifty seasons of metropolitan society. He has watched with interest all the various changes since the last term of Mr. Madison, when he settled in town, down to the present year of grace.

He has reminiscences of the "Immortal George." He knows all the scandal of the salons, where Mme. Genet seconded the intrigues of her husband He can remember the time when the site of the White House was covered with charred ruins—remnants of deeds of that famous flotilla that sailed up the Potomac, under the famous Sir Edward Cockburn, Rear Admiral of the Blue. Then the Capitol was not built and the Treasury existed only in the brain of the architect, and the American people had not commenced that work of ages—the Washington Monument There was no gaslight in the street; the stately avenues that now bear princely chariots and sleighs, were poor embankments of mud and roads almost impassible. The colonial lords on the other bank of the river still wound their horses for miles of chase over the broad Virginia manors. Every morning at break of day John Randolph, of Roanoke, rode up the Georgetown turnpike with a pack of hounds at his horse's heels. Those were the days of the proudest, stateliest gentlemen. Then we wore the broadest kind of ruffles, and the finest of silver-laced velvet coats. None of your whipper-snapper willowy canes, but we used heavy, gold-headed sticks. Then what snuff—real Turkish snuff. It seems to me snuff hasn't tasted the last forty years, quoth my venerable friend.

"Receptions were receptions then not what they are now. Mr. Madison lived right out on this street," said he, pointing out of the window. "They were just rebuilding then, after the British war, and the President lived in a large old private mansion, further down the road." "Why, what do you mean, my dear friend?" I interposed. "There is a row of new brick buildings there, and a retail grocery for that corner store." "No, my boy," snapped out my testy antiquary, "those are not new. They are nothing but old buildings renovated. I think I ought to know when the old house, green with ivy, was pulled down and that block put up in its stead I ought to know, too, where the President, James Madison, lived, because it was there I went to my first President's reception; I'll tell you how it happened.

"There was a party—three or four young bloods—just come from a long stage ride from Philadelphia. We were in good spirits at coming to our journey's end, and thought we would pay our respects to the Chief Magistrate. So out we went to the old house, and found several private carriages in front of the door and saw lights and heard music inside. One of us stepped up and rang the bell. A lacquey in livery came to the door, and after surveying us, said we couldn't come in. 'Why so; isn't this the reception evening?' 'Yes,' rejoined the porter, but I have strict orders not to admit any one who is not in evening costume.' We were rather astonished. We had on good ruffled and fluted shirts, and fine walking boots turned over at the sides and curving down behind, in the shape of a heart, as the fashion was in those days; but there was no remedy. The door-keeper said that the Commissioner of Public Buildings told him to admit no one without knee-breeches, silk stockings and pumps. So we had to turn away, not very much pleased. I assure you, and it was a long time before we went to another reception.

"Soon after," continued my loquacious monologuist, "I forgot all about that and went to Mr. Monroe's levees. The President was small, not five feet four inches high, puffed, pot-bellied man, gracious enough. He was, perhaps the last of the real old-fashioned people. His evenings at home were genuine official receptions; not so social as Mrs. Madison's graces had made the White House a few years before—but with all the pictorial admixtures of the grand seignour and the good fellow pertaining to fine gentlemen then.

"Mr. Adams I knew personally very well. I used to see him about 5 o'clock every morning going down to the opposite bank of the river, in front of the pastures where the monument stands. There he would bathe and think nothing of plunging into the Potomac in the coldest weather. He came back afterwards to the Executive Mansion as red as a Georgia peach, and this system of exercise may have helped to prolong his life, if it could not keep him in the Presidential chair more than a single term."

"Do you remember Jackson?" "Yes, I remember Jackson," here he commenced to drop the mister. "He was a sort of straight forward, good-hearted old fellow, not much ceremony about him, he didn't believe in it; he was for doing things without any fuss. He used to promenade through the rooms with Mrs. Eaton on his arm, he didn't care. I knew her well; she was a beautiful woman and a good hearted lady, too."

TOO MUCH GRAMMAR.—Prof. Bowen, of Harvard College, has just published a pamphlet, in which he defends liberal education against the recent assault of Dr. Bigelow. In this pamphlet he says,

Over thirty years ago a small abridgement of Edward Everett's translation of Buttmann's Greek Grammar, comprising, to the best of my recollection, not more than 180 openly printed pages, was accepted as a sufficient qualification for admission to the Freshman class; and the amount of Latin grammar required was proportionately small. Yet at that period the quantity of Latin and Greek studied by undergraduates was at least one-third more than what is now required of them. That this amount was not, in one sense, so well studied then as now—that is, that the student did not acquire so much minute philological information—may be readily admitted. But in the ability, at the time of graduation, to read and enjoy the Latin and Greek authors, he was considerably in advance, as I believe, of our recent graduates He had command of a larger vocabulary, had profited by more experience in disentangling difficult constructions, had stored his memory with a larger number of pithy phrases, gnomic sentences, and scraps of verse, and had been less injured by the indiscriminate use of translations Classical learning seems to me to have steadily declined in this country of late years, in respect both to the number of its votaries and to its estimation with the public at large, just in proportion as its professors and teachers have diminished the time and effort bestowed on reading the classics, in order to enforce more minute attention to the mysteries of Greek accentuation and the metaphysics of the subjunctive mood. He will do most to revive it who shall be the first to publish, in a volume of not more than 200 openly printed pages, all the grammatical forms and principles both of Latin and Greek languages which are required to qualify a candidate for admission to college, and which will suffice even for the undergraduate studies of nine tenths of the students Those who are ambitious to become Scaligers, Bentleys or Porsons may study the whole of Andrews and Stoddard or Zumpt, Kruger or Buttmann

Gen Sickles, in command of the Department of North and South Carolina, has issued an order prohibiting the sale or gift of liquors to United States soldiers, sailors or marines. The order also instructs post commanders to exercise supervision over magistrates, sheriffs and the police within their commands, and when necessary for the preservation of order, to assume the command of the police.

The last culinary novelty is alphabetic soup. Instead of the usual and cylindric and star shaped morsels of maccaroni which have heretofore given body to our broth, the letters of the alphabet have been substituted. There is a movement on foot in New Jersey to organize the people in every Senatorial and Legislative district throughout the State, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Legislature who favor a platform of equality before the law, and the erasion of the word "white" from the State Constitution. The Charlottesville (Va.) Chronicle speaking of the exclusion of colored people from the street cars, says "We regard it as all wrong and we hope no such issues will be made in the South. There are four millions of colored people in the South, and the attempt to keep them out of public vehicles is as mad as an attempt to divide a stream in the middle. You can't do it. We are for justice to the colored man, although we fear, sometimes, that agitators among them will not allow them to be satisfied with reason and justice. But by all means give them justice, and if they are not satisfied then they must take the consequences."

In Italy no man is allowed to vote who is under twenty-five years of age Young Italy is kept in leading strings long past the age which is considered the limit of parental control in this country. He is treated as a helpless child, for whom everything must be arranged If he marries, it is because his mother tells him he must, and that she has selected the lady who is to be his bride. He is not supposed to have a choice of his own, and a separate establishment is not to be thought of, with his bride he is still an inmate of his father's house and under parental control. How different from all this is the career of Young America, who marries at eighteen or younger, with or without his parent's consent, and at twenty-five has a house full of matters and things too numerous to mention!

THE PRESS.—These be the mighty sorcerers that have exorcised the demon of Slavery from the land of Freedom. Day and night, night and day, their manifold leaves, stamped with the electric thoughts of genius, oratory and poetry, were flung out by the strong arms of steam. They were taken up by impulsive winds, and swept from the great city to the wilderness They rose to the crest of the mountains, they sank to the depths of the valley. They drifted down the mine, they floated out on the ocean, until at length War for the Union, War for freedom to all, War for a perfect civilization, stood harnessed and plumed before the cottage of the people!—S F Flag,

The McCrackan

A Paris letter says John M McCrackan finds himself so persecuted with letters of inquiry concerning the slanders of Minister Motley, that he is compelled to answer them one and all in the journals As no such person as George W McCrackan is known, it is now evident that the name was assumed, and made sufficiently to resemble another to deceive unobserving people John M McCrackan spells the last syllable of his name with a besides that, George and John are very little alike He states in his card published this morning that he has no knowledge of any such man, and certainly has no relation with him. He is from New Haven, (Conn), has lived in San Francisco and New York, and for the last ten years resided in Munich and other European cities, and is now at Nice A friend informs us that he had received twenty-eight letters, asking if he was the man? which proves that others as well as himself, are interested in his honor. The information was probably given by some one who was not introduced at Court, and had not the opportunity of paying obeisance to crowned heads, as republican Americans are so anxious to do, and so angry if not permitted Our Ambassadors are besieged with people, who wish to mingle with lords, dukes and potentates, and ask privileges which their own families do not enjoy. They cannot introduce all creation, and therefore offend some, who do not hesitate to ascribe to them all manner of motives. We have heard a man say he would gladly spend five thousand dollars to get a Minister removed, whose only offence in his eyes was that he had refused to procure him a ticket to a ball at the Tuilleries, where he had already been twenty times, and there were twenty others asking the same who had not been at all

ANTI BACHELOR'S MULTIPLICATION TABLE.—The Lynchburg (Va.) News of a late date has the following,

A NOTABLE BOOK.—The most notable volume which was ever issued from the Scottish press, has just been privately printed for the Spalding Club. It is the second volume of Sculptured Stones of Scotland, by John Stuart, LL.D. The first volume was printed in Aberdeen in 1856. Scotland contains 200 or 300 sculptured stones which are peculiarly interesting, as similar sculptures have not been found on the monuments of any other country. They are also peculiar in their geography, being spread along the east coast of Scotland, from the Forth northwards. In general ornamentation and design, the more highly sculptured of these stones resemble those of some other countries. But the peculiarity of the Scotch stones is that, in addition to much interlaced and scroll-work, they show figures and symbols which are said to be seen no where else in the world.

These characteristic symbols consist of the so-called spectacle ornament (a double set of circles connected by a set of middle lines,) the crescent or crescentic ornament, the arch or horse shoe figure, and figures of elephants, fish, serpents, mirrors, combs, etc. In no two cases is the arrangement of these symbols alike, On the oldest stones they are cut in an incised form upon hewn blocks, without any surrounding ornamentation. In the sculptured stones of a latter date they are cut in relief or in a raised form, with surrounding lace work and chevrons, and often combined with forms of the Christian cross. Other figures are found carved on these stones—such as portraits of priests and dignitaries; processions of men; the sacrifice of the bull; war and hunting scenes; animals, native and foreign, and some of the eastern origin, as the lion, tiger, camel and monkey; the battling and devouring of men by wild animals; men with monster heads of beasts and birds, and representations of beasts and monsters.

THE CHILD BEATING MANIA IN ENGLAND.—A man and his wife named Blow were sentenced at the Lincoln Assizes in March to 15 years penal servitude for causing the death of an illegitimate daughter of the woman's by abuse and starvation. The man used to put the child up the chimney while the fire was burning, and to tie it into its chair with small cords which cut through the flesh of the thighs down to the bone. The girl was 8 years old, but was so wasted by starvation that she weighed only 13½ pounds. Child torture has been especially rife recently in England. A laborer, named James Thorn, has just been sentenced at Taunton to 20 years penal servitude for inflicting horrible and probably fatal wounds upon his daughter with a red hot poker. William Foot, in London, used the same implement to punish his little boy, 12 years of age, because the kettle did not boil. He thrust the hot iron into the child's mouth and kicked him in the eye, but as the boy survived the torture, the sentence was only 18 months imprisonment.

FAST LIFE AND ITS EVILS.—The New York Tribune is moralizing on the extravagances and follies of our social life. There is abundance of reason for doing so, but it is to be feared that the extravagances and follies will go on just the same as usual until something happens that will compel our people suddenly to halt. Nothing is truer than that "we Americans are not only extravagant, but ostentatious people. We habitually spend to much on our own stomachs and our neighbors eyes. We are constantly in hot water, not because we cannot live in comfort on our means, but because we persist in spending more than we need or can afford. Our youth squander in extra food and drinks, in frolic and dissipation which does them harm instead of good, the means which should be the nest egg of their future competence. When cares and children cluster about them, they grumble at their hard fortune, forgetful that they wasted the years and the means which might and should have saved them from present and future poverty."

MARRIAGES AND DIVORCES IN OHIO.—The annual statistical report of Ohio shows that the State is somewhat given to marriage. 30,000 marriages were solemnized during the year, being 5,000 more than any preceding year, and 8,000 more than in 1865. In 1863, during the midst of the war, the number of the marriages had decreased to 19,300. The increased proportion in marriages was almost altogether in the rural districts, and does not appear in the statistics of counties containing large cities Many counties increased 50 per cent while the great counties of Hamilton and Cuyahoga reached a increase of 25 per cent The estimated number of marriages for 1867, is one per cent of the population. While so many are joining their fortunes under the auspices of Hymen, the disaffected experimenters in that direction who succeeded in obtaining a legal dissolution of the marriage contract were 1,169, an increase of 25 per cent on the preceding year

MUTATIONS OF FORTUNE.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writing from Indianapolis, says "While passing through the Union depot, a few days ago, I was accosted by a one-armed man, in faded army blue His apparent familiarity surprised me at first, but I soon recognized him as an old acquaintance I first saw him fourteen years ago, working a windlass in the gold diggings of Australia. He and his three partners hoisted by that windlass, from a single shaft, more than $800,000 A few months later I bade him good-bye, as he sailed from Melbourne for New York, with $200,000 in bills of exchange in his pocket I next saw him a wounded rebel soldier lying on the battle field of Antietam A little more than a year later, I saw him as a Union soldier, lying in a hospital at Tennessee To day he is a helpless wanderer, dependent on charity for a dinner"

DEMOCRATIC LICENSE.—During his recent visit to Ottawa, Illinois, Wendell Phillips was honored by a peculiar Democratic courtesy On the evening of the lecture, Clancy, the Mayor of the town, sent the City Marshal with a note addressed to Phillips, requesting him to pay a license fee of $10, as required for shows, exhibitions of sleight of hand, etc., and though informed that the lecturer's enterprise was an educational one, the money was exacted and paid. The money was, however, refunded by some members of the City Council

DR. HENLEY'S Fountain of Life!

GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARRIVE when a new direction is imparted to its course These epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science The present is an epoch of this kind, and this Great Remedy, now offered to the public, in connection with the theory on which it is based is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood. The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts; it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything, from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting

Dr HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world, and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE:

I would refer you to L L Beck, of Portland, Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years.

DR. WM HENLEY,
Portland, Oregon.

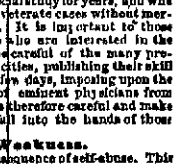
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL,
San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it is too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Consultations FREE.

AT THE

Bennett House,
SALEM, OREGON.

L. JAY S. TURNEY,

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast He has determined to make the Bennett' as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem. He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords

His Bar room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort

In short, he intends making an effort to please all who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant,
